

Mercater for Pensions

It is quite possible that the most valuable asset owned by many people is their pension plan. Traditional pensions have for decades offered very limited investment opportunities and, as a result, significant sums of money have been held in a very narrow and inflexible range of investments.

Today's market however offers a vast array of investment opportunities within pension wrappers. Many of our clients now benefit from the great flexibility offered by Self Invested Personal Pensions (SIPP) and Small Self Administered Schemes (SSAS) arrangements which allow Mercater to construct an appropriate investment portfolio tailored to their needs in the years before retirement and, increasingly, after retirement too.
